CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION

May Be Made Into Ballinger-Pinchot Controversy.

SEEMS TO BE INEVITABLE

Congressmen Now in Washington Declare That a Resolution Providing for an Inquiry Will Surely Be Introduced the First Day of the Session—Position of the President Regarding Investigation Not Known.

Washington, Nov. 10.—A congressional investigation of the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot row seems inevitable. Congressmen who are here say a resolution providing for an investigation will surely be introduced the first day of the session.

The Ballinger interview, the Glavis statement just made public and the statement given out by ex-President Eliot of Harvard, now at the head of the National Conservation association, have only served to add fuel to the fire.

The idea of a congressional investigation has been discussed ever since the sensational developments of last summer and the issuance of the president's letter indorsing Secretary Ballinger in connection with the coal and cases. There has been, however, until the past few days, doubt as to whether it would be possible to get action from congress because of the powerful character of the influences that would be set at work to hush up the subject. For some time it has been recognized that no action was obtainable unless the distinct public demand for it was made felt.

The position of the president on such an investigation is not known, but the general assumption is that the executive is satisfied with the inquiry of last summer, and would not approve of further investigation. The president, however, will recommend some legislation in his annual message in connection with the general question of public lands, and possibly of water sites.

BOBS MINNESOTA MERCHANT

One Bandit Holds Up Postmaster at Stockton.

Winona, Minn., Nov. 10.—A. F. Swinner, a leading merchant and postmaster in the village of Stockton, ten miles west of here, was the victim of a hold-up on the doorstep of his establishment, the robber securing $800 cash.

The merchant closed his store at eight and headed in the direction of his home.

At the corner a pistol shot flared in the darkness a few inches from Swinner's face. The man fell and the hold-up man jumped upon him and took his wallet from his hip pocket.

The alarm was spread and the villagers took up the trail. It is believed that the bandit is surrounded the hills skirting the little village.

Boy Kills His Brother.

Bemidji, Minn., Nov. 10.—County coroner Ibertson received a letter stating that while two sons of a man named Wilson, living in the town of land, were hunting one of the boys accidentally shot and killed the other. The surviving boy, when questioned, stated that he was about to shoot a deer and that his brother stepped in front of the gun.

HYPNOTISTS' EFFORTS VAIN

Fail to Bring the Dead Man Back to Life.

WEIRD SCENE IN A MORGUE

First One Hypnotist and Then Another Tries to Revive Man Placed in a Trance by "Professor" Everton. Latter in Jail on a Charge of Manslaughter—Defense Will Be That Victim Was Not Dead When Autopsy Was Performed.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 10.—While Arthur Everton, self-styled "professor" and traveling hypnotist, sobbed in his cell, three calm medical men witnessed a weird performance in the morgue of the Somerville hospital.

There William E. Davenport, secretary to the mayor of Newark and a student of hypnotism, vainly tried to bring back signs of life in the rigid body of Robert Simpson, a former street car conductor of Newark, who apparently died after having been put into a hypnotic trance by Everton before a large audience at the Somerville theater.

Davenport failed, Simpson was declared officially dead and an autopsy was held.

Meanwhile, charged with manslaughter, unnerved and shaken, Everton remains in prison, where he must await the action of the grand jury as a sequel to a stage trick familiar throughout this country and abroad.

It was at the piteous insistence of Everton, while in jail, after his ineffectual attempts to revive Simpson, that Davenport, a friend of Everton, came into the case. Notwithstanding the declarations of physicians that Simpson was dead, Everton pleaded that Davenport be allowed to revive him. Accordingly, the autopsy was postponed and the student of hypnotism was summoned.

Simpson's body, covered with a black cloth, lay in the morgue at the hospital when Davenport arrived. He came in silently and in the presence of Dr. W. H. Long, county physician; Dr. Charles H. Halstead and Dr. Francis McConaughy immediately began his attempt to revive the unfortunate man. First he felt of the body to detect any possible heart beat; failing in this, he placed his ear on the victim's chest. Then, invoking the power of suggestion, he spoke in the dead man's ear.

Efforts Proved Futile.

"Bob," he said, "Bob, your heart action—your heart action—your heart action is beginning. It is beginning."

Slowly and dramatically Davenport repeated this in the ear, then, changing his tone of voice to an imperious command, he cried sharply, "Bob! Bob! Can't you hear me? Your heart is beginning to beat. Your heart is beginning to beat." Again and again he repeated this assurance to the inanimate form, while the medical men looked grimly on. Not a muscle of the body stirred and there was absolutely no sign of animation.

Again Davenport changed his methods. Leaning over Simpson's right ear, he spoke confidentially: "Oh! I say, Bob," he said in quiet, conversational tone; "look, your heart is beginning to beat." He repeated this soothingly time after time, but without effect. Then he admitted Simpson was dead.

Edward Pelham, another hypnotist, playing at another theater, was called in to aid. He did all he could do to revive Simpson, but gave up the fight and said the subject was dead.

Simpson, the victim, was thirty-five years of age and was accustomed, it is said, to drinking heavily. It is generally admitted that he was intoxicated during the test. No relatives have appeared to claim the body.

Everton has employed counsel and will fight the case. It has been suggested that he will make the novel plea that the man was still alive when the autopsy was performed, citing various cases of suspended animation as proof of this.

Farmers' Congress Elects.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 10.—Joshua Strang of Indiana was elected president of the Farmers' National congress at the closing session of the meeting here. W. L. Ames of Wisconsin was elected treasurer. A. C. Fuller of Iowa, the retiring member of the executive committee, was re-elected.

Kennedy's Estate Large.

New York, Nov. 10.—Friends of John Stewart Kennedy, whose estate was first put at $30,000,000 and now at $60,000,000, declare that it will be $100,000,000, unless he made large distributions before his death.

PRACTICE OF OVERLOADING

Controller Murray Predicts Banks Will Soon Abandon It.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Lawrence O. Murray, controller of the currency and in charge of the supervision of the 7,026 national banks in the United States, has received a sufficient number of responses to his recent order forbidding overloads in these institutions to make the prediction that the practice of overloading soon will be a thing of the past, and that it never will be revived.

Since Mr. Murray became controller of the currency he has inaugurated one reform after another, or, rather, has insisted upon a strict compliance with the law on the part of bank officers and directors and his campaign has resulted in the correction of many abuses that had crept into the administration of the affairs of individual banks.

Three years ago the abuse of the loaning privilege was most flagrant. Figures compiled by Mr. Murray show that in 1906, for instance, 56 per cent of the national banks overloaned to favored clients.

In 1906, the present emergency law was passed. Under its provisions the limit of a loan to a single borrower is 10 per cent of the capital and surplus, not exceeding, however, 50 per cent of the bank's capital. Prior to the enactment of the present law, the limit on a single loan was 10 per cent of the bank's capital, and the disregard of this provision of the law was very general. These violations were confined to no particular section of the country.

Following the enactment of the new law, the proportion of banks making excess loans to single borrowers was reduced in a very short time to 28 per cent. There was a still further and gradual reduction in the months following, until the proportion of banks overloaning was reduced to between 13 and 15 per cent at the time Mr. Murray issued his order for a strict compliance with the law.

Mistakes in Use of Words.

If use can make authority in the employment of words it is high time that certain etymologically misused phrases of our English tongue should be adopted into the family of orthodoxy. The word "necessity" is habitually used as the equivalent of "necessary," instead of being its direct opposite. A man says: "I do not care for the luxuries of life if I have the necessities," when probably he has the "necessities" in calamitous abundance. Quite as common a blunder is the confusion between the words "expect" and "suspect." A man says: "There is a knock at the door. I expect that is the tax collector." He should say, "I have been expecting the tax collector and suspect that is he."—Boston Transcript.

LOWER RATES ARE FAVORED

Treasury Department Accepts Bottom Duties in Case of Disagreement.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Under the administration of Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh, the customs officials are interpreting classification questions arising under the new tariff in favor of lower duties rather than higher ones. This is a distinct departure from the policy that long prevailed in the treasury department.

Secretary MacVeagh takes the view that the present law was downward revision in theory. His own leanings are also toward moderate duties. It is supposed that President Taft takes the same view, that in case of uncertainty it is better to give the public the benefit of the doubt.

"MICHAEL'S"

BOTH SHIPS SUNK IN A COLLISION

Only Two Members of the Crews Saved.

New York, Nov. 10.—Two shipwrecked sailors came into port after having been in one of the most tragic wrecks that has ever taken place along the American coast. Six of their comrades went down with their vessel, while they were working at the pumps, and the vessel with which they collided, a four-masted schooner, supposed to be the Merrill C. Hart of Thomaston, Me., carrying presumably about ten souls on board, went to the bottom a few seconds later.

The men who arrived here were members of the crew of the barkentine John S. Bennett. She carried a cargo of coal and was bound from this port to Halifax. She was off Block Island when the accident occurred.

The two members of the crew of the Bennett were rescued by the schooner William Jones, Captain James Bullock, lumber laden, bound from Stockton Springs, Me. She appeared shortly after the collision took place and saw the sinking form of the Bennett and tacked about and came near her. Those on board shouted to her, but before she could launch a boat the barkentine plunged downward into the depths. The last that was heard from those on board the Bennett was a cry that came through the night: "Save us. We are sinking."

The small boat of the William Jones moved about among the wreckage and drifting timbers, and when it seemed hopeless that any one could possibly remain afloat found a broken dory with two men clinging to the side. They were Filipino sailors, R. Valerica and Dena Fillino. They were taken in an exhausted condition back to the William Jones and cared for.

Two Young Men Drowned.

Portage, Wis., Nov. 10.—John True, twenty-one years old, and Thomas Owen, twenty-four years old, of Caladonia, drowned near Merrimac. The bodies have not been recovered.

After More Trade in Canada.

Washington, Nov. 10.—It is stated that Germany is considering the establishment of a new consulate, "which will be almost ambassadorial in its scope and character." It is also reported that it has been suggested to erect a German building in Ottawa for the exhibition of German products suitable for the Canadian trade.

TAFT IN NORTH CAROLINA

President Receives a Cordial Welcome in That State.

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 10.—"We want you to know that the South is your country, just as the North is our country," said Governor Kitchen of North Carolina, introducing President Taft here. "We are asking no favors, but justice and a fair chance, and we believe there is no man more desirous of giving us that than you."

Wilmington had the president all day, and his reception here was on a par with those that he has been receiving all through the South. Big crowds turned out and received him, and he gave them the assurances of fair treatment that have characterized his utterances all through this section.

There was some disappointment expressed, however, over the fact that after a four-hour trip down the Cape Fear river, made a leading feature of his entertainment here because a thirty-foot channel is desired, the president made no reference to the improvement in his address.

The address of the day was made at the city hall after the presidential party had been driven about the city, perhaps the most beautifully decorated of any of the smaller Southern cities. The president was given a banquet at the Masonic temple after he had enjoyed an hour's rest at the Cape Fear club.

To the dismay of the local committee, the elevator in the Masonic temple went on a strike. So, with supporting committees on both sides, President Taft walked up the three flights of stairs to the banquet hall.

COURIERS WARN SETTLERS

Result of Gasoline Explosion That Cost Seven Lives.

Warroad, Minn., Nov. 10.—Couriers were sent out through the surrounding country and up across Lake of the Woods for sixty miles into the interior by a local mercantile company to prevent such appalling losses of life as occurred four miles south of here by a gasoline explosion in the farm dwelling of Nels Johnson.

It is believed that fluid sold in Warroad for kerosene was mixed with gasoline by shippers or negligent clerks, the use of which by Johnson to start his kitchen fire caused the death and cremation of his wife and five children and a slow death for himself from burns.

Gotch Throws Italian.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of the world, defeated Giovanni Ralcevitich of Italy in two straight falls at the Coliseum here, the first fall in 16 minutes, 28 seconds, and the second in 5 minutes, 23 seconds.

The Wastings of the Poor

Over twenty years ago the writer read an article by the late Rev. Edward Hale in which he said: "The savings of the rich are nothing, as compared with the wastings of the poor." The sentence so impressed itself on the memory that it has been retained, though all else of the article has been forgotten. It was forcibly recalled a few days ago by a conversation overheard between two girls. One is a daughter of a man with a salary of about $1000 per year with a home of his own and a family of four. The other was the eldest daughter in a family of six children whose mother was compelled to assist the father in eking out a scanty income by doing washing. The two girls were talking of cooking receipts.
The second girl was telling of a cake
she made that day in which she used seven eggs. The other replied that the receipt her mother used took but one and made a good cake. The conversation was typical of the difference in planning of the expenditure of the income. The mechanic earning $4 per day often wonders how his helper, who gets $2 has paid for a home and has money to loan. He lays it to luck. It is easy to lay our own failures to luck. It is easy to see where the other fellow made a mistake, but it is hard to admit that we have made mistakes; that we have foolishly appropriated our income.

Much of this comes from the decadence of the old fashioned art of going without. Occasionally we will find a family who possesses it, and almost invariably we find them in comfortable circumstances. They do not stay in the "poverty poor" class long, even if misfortune does throw them there occasionally.

The art of going without is not an inherent trait in the twentieth century American, as is our foreign brethren, and herein often lies the reason why they seem to be crowding the Americans out of many of the best things in life. They are willing to go without the luxuries of life until they can afford them. They are willing to go without the night festivities that unfit them for the next day's toil, and they are willing to go without the blessed privilege of saying that no one can boss them.

This privilege, so dear to the average American has made a failure of many brilliant boy or girl. Some noted general has said that the man who never learned to obey will never be able to learn to command, and this is just as true in the home as in the shop or in the camp.

Marriage Superstitions.
Matrimony is surrounded with superstitions, many of which apply only to the marriage ceremony. The wedding ring is made plain and thick only for the reason that its thickness and plain-ness secure it against breakage, for to break it is the very worst of luck for both bride and groom. White is the best color to get married in, but a widow may marry in any color save yellow. Should a bride drop one of her gloves woe betide her! She must exercise great care in getting in and out of her carriage, and a false step is an ill omen which brings misfortune.

FIRST MINNESOTA VICTIM

Beltrami County Youth Falls Victim to Deer Hunting Accident Before Season Opened

Bemidji, Minn., Nov. 10—Mistaken for a deer, a young man named Wilson was shot and killed by his brother in the town of Eiland, north of here, yesterday, according to a brief report received by Coroner Ibertson.

This is the first fatality of the deerhunting season which opens tomorrow. None of the particulars are available, and the details of the tragedy will not be known until the coroner, who has gone to investigate, returns.

Shooting was heard in the woods near Eiland postoffice, and when neighbors went to investigate, they came upon two boys, one lying on the ground gasping his last breath, a bullet wound showing the manner of the death.

The surviving boy was standing near, according to the report, and when questioned as to how the other was shot, stated that he was going to shoot a deer and that his brother stepped in front of the gun, receiving the shot intended for the deer.

The coroner left last night for Kehler and will go from that place to where the boy was shot and investigate the case.

Mrs. Louie Hite, 428 Outlen, St., Danville, Ill., writes, October 1st: Foley's Kidney Pills started me on the road to health. I was treated by our doctors and took other kidney remedies but grew worse, and was unable to do my housework, and the doctor told me I only could live from two to six months. I am now so much better that I do all my own work, and I shall be very glad to tell everyone afflicted with kidney or bladder trouble the good results I received from taking Foley's Kidney Pills. Commence today and be well. Do not risk having Bright's Disease or Diabetes. H. P. Dunn. mwf-w

THE OLD WALL IS DANGEROUS

Standing Wall of Columbian Block Swayed Ten Inches in the Wind of Tuesday

LIABLE TO FALL ANY TIME

Danger of Injury to Odd Fellows Block Passed When Roof Joists Were Put on

The north wall of the Columbian block, which was left standing when the building burned a couple of weeks ago, is swaying badly at the rear end with every gust of wind. At one time Tuesday C. B. White states that it swayed ten inches away from the Odd Fellows building. All that keeps it standing is the pillar and "I" beam at the front end of the wall, and the fact that the prevailing winds since the fire have been from the south and held the wall up against the Odd Fellows building.

There is considerable anxiety felt lest the wall should buckle in and knock the upper story wall of the Odd Fellows block, but White Bros., who have the contract for repairing the latter building now have the roof and ceiling joists in place, and despite the rain had a crew of men at work today putting on the roof boards, so that this danger is now practically passed.

The fire is still smoldering in the basement of the Columbian building. A small portion of the top of the wall of the Columbian block was pushed over this afternoon by some men working on the Odd Fellows building, in order to avoid danger of brick tumbling onto their heads while at work.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it, you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Rogers Brothers Iron Range

Rogers Brothers of Minneapolis and Lincoln, Nebraska are the discoverers and projectors of the new iron range running from Philbrook in Todd county along the range of hills in North Morrison, south of Pillager, to Sylvan in Cass County. A shaft is down to iron at Philbrook and drilling is going on at Sylvan, three miles east of Pillager. The range includes the whole townsite of Pillager and iron almost crops out in different places along the range. All mineralogists say this range equals if not surpasses the Mesabian range in richness and quantity of ore under it.—Pillager Herald.

Foley's Kidney remedy will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. Cures backache and irregularities that, if neglected, might result in Bright's disease or diabetes. H. P. Dunn, druggist. mwf-w

COMPANY IS A FAKE

Minnesota Commissioner of Insurance Denounces the Western Fire Ins. Co. of Phoenix

The following circular of John A. Hartigan, Commissioner of Insurance for the state of Minnesota, may be of interest, though so far as known the company is not operating in or around Brainerd:

"Numerous inquiries have reached this department from the northern part of the state concerning the Western Fire Insurance Company, of Phoenix, Arizona. This company is not licensed to do business in this state. It is a fake company organized under the laws of Arizona, which laws are so lax that they afford no protection whatever to policy holders of insurance companies incorporated there. The policies of this company offer no protection to the insured; anyone issuing them is violating the law of this state, and upon receipt of proof at this department will be promptly prosecuted."

NEWSPAPERS BEST ADVERTISING

Railroads will Confine Publicity Business to Legitimate Channels After Jan. 1

Railroads, as well as other advertisers, are coming to a realization that the only legitimate advertising the noly advertising that brings returns, is that in daily and weekly newspapers and periodicals published at least once a month.

All western and northwestern railroads after Jan. 1, will cease to advertise in score cards, circulars, programs and other special publications. The western railroads have adopted the attitude toward advertising that has been observed for some time by the railroads belonging to the Trunk Line association.

The railroads have been plunged into frequent squabbles over the ethics of advertising and the new ruling will harmonize this feature of the railroad business.

"One of the most peculiar features of this decision of the railroads," said a Duluth passenger traffic man yesterday, "is the decision not to advertise in publications appearing less often than once a month. Railroads realize that one advertisement is not sufficient. They must keep everlastingly at it and with frequency. That is why most railroad advertising is done in the daily newspapers."—Duluth News Tribune.

GLENN R. KIMBALL LOCATED

Missing Banker Finally Found in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 9.—Glenn R. Kimball, disappeared Deadwood (S. D.) banker, who reappeared before his wife at Larimore, N. D., last July, is living at 415 West Main street, Oklahoma City, where he is conducting a business for the International Industrial company gathering credit ratings.

Immediately after his reappearance, according to his statement, he started to Oklahoma on account of his health. He was five days on the road.

"I am evading nothing," he said. "I came to Oklahoma City for my health. There has been absolutely no estrangement with my wife. I hear from her and my daughter often. I love them now and think they love me."

"And the top was absolutely worthless?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you think any one will respect you if you do tricks like that?"

"I dunno."

"Suppose I had a watch without any works and I sold it to a man for $100. Would you have any respect for me?"

"Huh! I'd have less respect for the fellow who bought the watch!"—Brooklyn Life.

What She Would Like.

"Willie," said Mr. Simpkins, "I want to give your sister some nice little present. Do you know of anything she would like?"

"Do I?" returned Willie, with a strong emphasis on the "do." "I guess I do."

"What it it, Willie?" asked Simpkins, slipping him a quarter.

"Well, I heard her tell mother this morning that she wanted a new box of face powder, a bottle of hair restorer, some new back switches, and"

But Mr. Simpkins had made a hurried exit.—Lippincott's.

Why it Pays To use

CALUMET

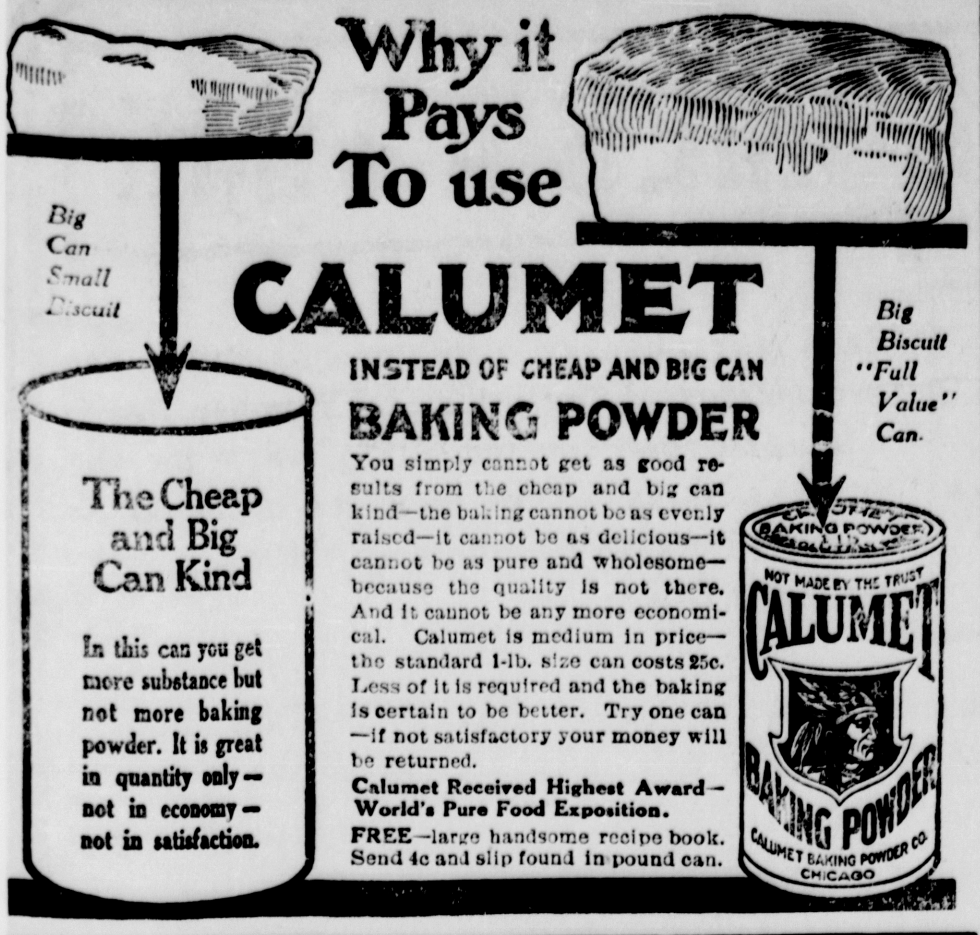

INSTEAD OF CHEAP AND BIG CAN BAKING POWDER

You simply cannot get as good results from the cheap and big can kind—the baking cannot be as evenly raised—it cannot be as delicious—it cannot be as pure and wholesome—because the quality is not there. And it cannot be any more economical. Calumet is medium in price—the standard 1-lb. size can costs 25c. Less of it is required and the baking is certain to be better. Try one can—if not satisfactory your money will be returned.

Calumet Received Highest Award—World's Pure Food Exposition. FREE—large handsome recipe book. Send 4c and slip found in pound can.

The Cheap and Big Can Kind

In this can you get more substance but not more baking powder. It is great in quantity only—not in economy—not in satisfaction.

Nothing Was the Matter.

"A newsboy I knew," said a yachtsman, "took to the sea. He became a bin boy on a tramp collier. He was a good boy, but—"

"Once, when our white squadron was at Newport, this collier steamed her slow way shoreward with her sign upside down, the signal of distress—distress of the direst. Instantly pretty sight was to be seen. Every warship in the fleet lowered a lifeboat, and all of those beautiful, snowy boats, manned by jacksies in spotless white duck, raced for the grimy old collier at breakneck speed—a pretty sight indeed. The captain of the collier stood on the bridge. He waved his hat, and the crews pulled all the faster. As they drew close they heard the man's cries.

"Come on! Pull! Get down to it!" he roared, dancing about wildly.

"What's the matter, captain?" the first officer to reach the collier asked breathlessly.

"Why, nothing's the matter," the captain answered in a surprised voice.

"Then why's your ensign upside down?"

"The captain looked aloft, then frowned.

"It's that boy Hank again," said he, "and here I thought it was a regatta."

Light and Dark Cigars.

A striking example of the ordinary smoker's ignorance on the subject of cigars is the popular superstition that a dark looking cigar is stronger than a lighter colored one. Some strong cigars have dark wrappers, but the dark wrapper does not by any means indicate a strong cigar. Dark, gummy tobacco, if thoroughly cured, is the mild form. Of course if dark tobacco is not thoroughly cured it will be strong, but so will light tobacco, for that matter. Any cigar man will bet you that the dark color is usually, though not

EMPLOYED BY RAILROADS

Western Farmers Have Trouble in Obtaining Ordinary Help.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 10.—Thirty thousand men are at work on railroad construction in this state. The great demand for laborers by the railroad contractors has left the agricultural districts in a deplorable condition. Difficulty is experienced by fruit growers and farmers in securing help.

The Union Pacific is building extensions northward from Portland, and it is estimated that 5,000 men are working day and night to rush the work.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound railway is building a branch to Spokane, and tributary lines into the sections adjoining its main line and more than 2,000 men are thus employed.

The Northern Pacific's North Bank water grade line from Tenino to Tacoma by way of the Narrows and Point Defiance tunnels is requiring an army of men. Construction of terminal facilities and a great station at Tacoma is employing 500. The Great Northern and Northern Pacific are jointly erecting a passenger and freight depot at Tacoma, which work is employing hundreds of men.

The Harriman system is hurrying to get its trains running to the Northwest cities and an expenditure of more than $10,000,000 is requiring many hundreds of men.

The North Coast railroad is building stations and division facilities at Spokane, North Yakima and Walla Walla and several thousand men are hurrying this road to completion.

The Pittsburg and Gilmour Valley road, tapping the richest wheat country in the West, is being rushed and several thousand graders and track-layers are working along the line.

LAW MEETS EXPECTATIONS

Customs Receipts Show a Heavy Increase.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Unless there is a decided falling off in the movement of foreign commerce to the United States, the present fiscal year will show customs receipts in excess of $300,000,000.

As a producer of revenue, the Payne tariff law is meeting the expectations of those who framed it and who promised that under its provisions there would be increased importations into the United States.

Customs receipts in the first four months of the present fiscal year have been greater than in any similar period in the nation's history. The average has exceeded $1,000,000 for every working day since July 1. The total customs receipts since the beginning of the fiscal year amounts to $122,009,982.53. The banner fiscal year for customs receipts was that which ended on June 30, 1907, when the Dingley law yielded about $332,000,000, or an average of about $912,000 a day.

Accidentally Kills Brother.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Nov. 10.—Coroner Iaugan was notified that Charles Thomas, while cleaning his rifle preparatory to going hunting, accidentally discharged it, the bullet striking his brother George near the left ear, killing him instantly. The dead man was twenty-two years old. The family lives in Hobart township.

North Dakota Hunter Killed.

Williston, N. D., Nov. 10.—George Marlin, a ferryman on the Missouri river, was shot and instantly killed while hunting in McKenzie county. The affair was purely accidental. The bullet went directly through Marlin's heart.

WOMAN BULLIED BY REPORTERS

Why Madame Steinhell Made Conflicting Statements.

FIRST ACCUSED THE MODEL

Then the Brother of Salvador and Finally She Declared That Her Old Servant, Mariette Wolff, Committed the Double Murder—Accused Woman Broke Down Under Threats That a Mob Would Sack Her House.

Paris, Nov. 10.—As he came down the steps of the Palais de Justice, Dr. Achery, the family physician of Madame Steinhell, summed up the case in these words.

"A foolish woman, the victim of unscrupulous journalists."

That was the whole trend of the day's evidence. The witnesses pictured the scene on the night of Nov. 25, 1908, in the lonely villa in the Impasse Ronsin, when the terrified Madame Steinhell, under suspicion of having killed her husband and her stepmother, struggled for eight hours with three men who threatened, tempted, bullied her, until at last she fell in with their plans and launched frantic accusation after accusation.

"Who committed the crime?" they asked her.

"The model Salvador," she cried.

"Oh, no; impossible; try again."

"His brother," she answered.

"No, try again."

So she finally accused her old servant, Mariette Wolff.

She broke down under threats that a mob would sack her house. She was taken by the journalists to the prison door. It was an unpleasant story, showing the dark side of the French.

Audience Hissed Reporters.

It is only just to say that the audience hissed these men and uttered cries of "ignoble." But much remained. If Barbey, the most reputable of the trio, is to be believed, twice on that night she called for strychnine, while her old servant, below in the kitchen, tried to kill herself, so great was her despair. She clutched a revolver and wailed: "Here is my only salvation."

It was a tragic night. Madame Steinhell, her daughter Marthe, and her cousins, the Chambriers, all were weeping and in a ferment of hysteria. Labryere, the reporter who engineered the project, said on the stand: "She was in a state of moral depression; I, too."

The case reaches its climax with the testimony of Mariette Wolff, who became suddenly a notable figure in the proceedings.

One of the reporters on the stand declared that Madame Steinhell had said, after a whispered conference with Mariette, that Mariette would "deny everything" in case her mistress was arrested.

Judge de Valles called the attention of the witness to the gravity of his testimony and he replied:

"I accept full responsibility."

"Have pity on me; I should not be tortured," cried Madame Steinhell. But her attorney, Maitre Aubin, seemed not greatly worried by the testimony. He has contended all along that the exposures Madame Steinhell feared and the facts she wanted to conceal concerned her own affairs of the heart, which she had always kept from her young daughter.

FEAR ATTACK BY INDIANS

Citizens of British Columbia Town Build Fortifications.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 10.—Advices from Hazelton are that the people are fearful of an attack on the town by the Kispix Indians, and are preparing to erect barricades and other rude fortifications.

The attack, it is feared, might be made by the Indians in revenge for the attack by the Hazelton police last Friday night on Kispix village, when eight Indians were captured, now being held as prisoners.

The Indians at Kispix and other nearby tribes are said to be aroused to a high pitch and many are said to have sworn revenge. The Hazelton police are said to have dug trenches where guards have been posted to keep a lookout. The people of Hazelton are fearful for the safety of the ranchers in the surrounding country.

WOULD CONTINUE THE FIGHT

Federation Executive Council Favors Appealing Labor Case.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 10.—The convention of the American Federation of Labor worked only half a day. The afternoon was given over to a trolley ride around Toronto under the guidance of a local entertainment committee. The morning session was taken up with reading of the report of the executive council.

The report gives the details of the Buck's stove case out of which grew injunction proceedings against the American Federation of Labor officials and the sentencing of President Gompers, Vice President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison to prison. The executive council recommends that appeal to the United States supreme court be taken in this case.

Just Pleasantness.

Perhaps just pleasantness has not a very heroic sound, but the human heart that, knowing its own bitterness, can yet carry itself cheerfully is not without heroism. Indeed, if that human heart does no more than hold its tongue about its own aches and pains it has a certain moral value that the world cannot afford to lose. "Pleasantness" does not sound as well as self sacrifice or wisdom or spirituality, but it may include all these great words. And certainly just to start one's husband out to his work cheerily, to make the hobbledehoy of a son feel a gentler and sweeter sentiment toward women because of his own mother's sound, sweet gayety and strength, to help one's servants to put good humor and friendliness into their services—these things make for righteousness in the world.—Margaret DeLaud.

It Didn't Work Out Just Right.

I saw the best of intentions become a veritable boomerang on Broadway the other night. A policeman had arrested for some small disturbance two well dressed men who had evidently had too much, but were facing the inevitable trip to the station without any further fuss. A friend saw their plight and rushed up.

"Officer," he piped in a peculiarly effeminate voice, "I beg that you will not arrest these men. Why, they are no more drunk than I am."

"Oh, very well," said the cop. "I'll take you too."

And he did.—New York Telegraph.

Kitchen Talk.

"I suppose," said the Lemon to the Nutmeg, "that you were very much hurt when the cook announced that she did not intend to use you for flavoring the pudding."

"On the contrary," retorted the Nutmeg. "It was a grate relief."—Baltimore American.

Cabbage Leaves.

Wigg—What kind of cigars does Closest smoke?

Wagg—Well, when you light one of them you instinctively look around for the corned beef.—Exchange.

Strictly Business.

"Who presented the count to you?" asked the privileged friend.

"No one," answered the heiress. "I bought him."—Lippincott's.

Consolation.

There was once a Billville citizen who could never rid himself of the chills, but went shivering through the hottest days of summer. When at last it seemed that all was up with him, his good wife to comfort him said:

"John, you've been a-shakin' an' a-shiverin' all yer life, but you'll get warm over there!"

"For the Lord's sake, Mary," said the shivering man, "don't talk so! Which way do you think I'm a-goin'?"—Atlanta Constitution.

Music Hath Charms.

"So you are fond of music?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum.

"I have the highest regard for it. When you go home and meet a crowd of constituents there is nothing like a brass band to take their minds off the explanations they have been looking for."—Washington Star.

The Horse Trade.

"I can't say I'm stuck on him."

"You will be if you buy him, sir," Judge.

GAS, INDIGESTION AND HEARTBURN GO

A Little Diapiesin Now Would Make You Feel Fine in Five Minutes

END YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE

Eat Your Favorite Foods Without Dread of Dyspepsia or an Out-of-Order Stomach

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapiesin.

If your stomach is lacking indigestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak stomachs should take a little Diapiesin occasionally and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, sour risings, gas on stomach or belching or undigested food, headaches, dizziness or sick stomach, and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after taking a little Diapiesin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.
